New Initiative to Promote PV Technologies and Applications in Africa

AfricaPVSEC combines a professional conference with an international PV industry exhibition for promotion and exchange in the photovoltaic solar energy sector with a focus on the African markets. This event gathers leading experts, researchers, public authorities, representatives from international organisations, donors and NGOs.

AfricaPVSEC aims to improve Africa's position on the global PV-map highlighting the extension and development of solar PV in Africa and the increased potential for exploitation and use of PV technologies and applications in the African context.

The conference programme is supported and coordinated by the European Commission, DG Joint Research Centre.

We are pleased with the increasing request of international delegations and tours attending our event and we offer you assistance with planning your:

National Pavilions

The concept and the benefits

- Showcase your regions' technologies and advancements
- Highlight investment opportunities within your region
- Base your delegations office onsite for the duration of the event
- Ideal venue from which to hold top-level talks and discussions with the events key players

Delegation Visits

Added value for your delegation

- Increase knowledge regarding innovations, latest technologies, international markets and political contexts
- Meet international photovoltaic experts and key players
- Share experiences with professionals from science, industry, associations and politics
- Maintain your international contacts and establish new business links

Business Tours

A stakeholder and business delegation

- We support private companies, public institutions and decision makers in arranging meetings and onsite visits
